2020	$3,250,000	RUC Demonstration Project: Kansas DOT will lead a joint effort working with Minnesota DOT to explore the impacts of RUC implementation in the Midwest, with focus on rural and agricultural populations and intrastate and Interstate commercial freight and supply chain operators.

Program Approach and Design: Kansas DOT's RUC Demonstration Project will explore the impacts of RUC implementation with Kansas and Minnesota representing the Midwest. The DOT proposed two focus areas: 1) the region's rural and agricultural population, and 2) intrastate and interstate commercial freight and supply chain operators. The team seeks to explore and address rural attitudes and beliefs toward RUC. They will also address rural vs. urban equity issues to evaluate how a system could be designed that meets this population's needs. It will examine how freight and supply chain road usages contribute to surface transportation funding in the Midwest and how they would interact with a new RUC system.

Status: This project was recently awarded funds and has not gotten underway yet.
